Old George bought the black gloves for just $35 ten years ago. They were made of lamb skin(羊皮), soft and warm and very strong. Until then, he had worn cheaper plastic ones. Those gloves never lasted longer than three years. He first decided to buy the expensive gloves, because they would make him feel nice in front of others.

George never let a drop of water or rain touch his expensive gloves, so they looked new. Losing this favorite thing was almost like losing a child to him.

Bad luck! George lost his expensive gloves on New Year's Day.

Back home. George was at a loss. In deep winter, he could not do without a pair of gloves. If he bought cheap ones again, he would have to replace (更换) them very soon. If he bought a new leather pair, it would cost $50 now. He was worried that people no longer returned things they found on the road.

After the holiday, poor George decided to buy another leather pair. Before boarding the subway, he went into Value Mart again to see if his gloves had been returned to the Lost and Found Office.

"What color are they?" the woman in the office asked again.

"Black," he gave the same answer. She looked into her drawer and drew out a pair of men's leather gloves. "Are they?"

"Yes! Those are mine!" George explained, with great joy in his eyes.

Mark is my friend. One day, I asked him to help me repair my old farmhouse. After half a day's hard work, he was on his way back. However, there was something wrong with his car, and he didn't bring his toolbox. What was worse, he couldn't start his car. So he called me up and asked me to drive him home.

When we arrived, he invited me to meet his family. As we walked toward the front door, he stopped at a small tree and touched the tree with two hands. He looked sad and tired.

After opening the door, he had an amazing change. With a big smile on his face, he hugged his two children and gave his wife a kiss.

After I enjoyed a cup of tea served by his wife, he walked me to my car. We passed the tree and I asked him why he did that before he got into his house.

"Oh, that's my trouble tree. I know I may have troubles sometimes, but one thing is for sure, they don't belong to my wife and children. So I just hang them on the tree. The traditional Chinese lunar calendar divides the year into 24 solar terms (节气). Clear and Bright, the 5th solar term, starts this year on Apr 5 and ends on Apr 20.

Of all the 24 solar terms, Clear and Bright is the only one whose first day is also a traditional Chinese festival, Qingming Festival or Tomb-Sweeping Day. The words "clear" and "bright" describe the weather during this period. Temperatures begin to rise and rainfall increases, making it an important time for planting in the spring.

Here are several things you may not know about Clear and Bright.

Clear and Bright is a period in which Chinese people honor nature and the ancestors of the Chinese nation. This tradition can go back to ancient times and still matters a lot in modern society.

Cleaning the tombs and paying respect to the dead with offerings are the two important practices to remember late relatives. The dead person's favorite food, wine (酒) and chopsticks are offered on their tombs, along with paper money. These sacrifices are all burned in the hope that the dead will not be short of food and money in the afterlife.

Clear and Bright is also time for people to go out and enjoy nature. As trees turn green, flowers blossom (开放), and the sun shines brightly, everything returns to life. It is a fine time to enjoy the beauty of nature. Walking outside in spring adds joy to life and improves physical health.

Flying kites is an activity liked by many Chinese during Tomb-Sweeping Day. Kites are not only flown during the day time but also in the evening. Little lanterns are tied to the kite or to the kite-string (线). And when the kites are flying in the sky, the lanterns look like twinkling stars at night. What makes flying kites during this day special is that people cut the string while the kite is in the sky to let it fly free. It is said this brings good luck.

The Cold Food Festival or Hanshi Festival is a traditional Chinese holiday celebrated for one day before Tomb-Sweeping Day. On that day, making fire is taboo (禁止) and only cold food is available.

Depending on the year of your birth, each person has an animal for a sign(生肖). 2019 is the year of the pig, so let's take a closer look at this interesting animal.

Do pigs live in a zoo? No, of course not! Pigs were first raised by man about 9,000 years ago. And they are still a very common farm animal in many parts of the world. We don't just use pigs for their meat – almost every part of the animal is used. The bones and skin are used for glue and footballs. The hair is used for artists' brushes. Amazingly, their heart valves(瓣膜) can be used to replace human ones.

Pigs have also been important in the world of entertainment. Peppa Pig is a children's television program. The show includes Peppa Pig, a talking pig as its main character, and her family and friends. They take part in everyday activities such as going swimming, visiting their grandparents, cousins, going to the playground or riding their bikes.

In England you can even go to watch pig racing. A farmer, Rob Shepherd, has been raising money by planning pig races on his farm. The events have been very successful. People don't just want to eat pigs, it seems!

_____(1). . To say that something is unlikely to happen you can say "Pigs might fly!" Hungry? Well then, you can "pig out" and eat lots of food. If you do not believe what someone is saying "In a pig's eye" could be a good expression in spoken English.

_____(2). . There are 12 Chinese zodiac animals(生肖). The Pig was the last to arrive when the Jade Emperor(玉皇大帝) called for the great meeting. The expression "lazy Pig" is due here as the Pig got hungry during the race, stopped for a big meal and then fell asleep. After that, the Pig continued the race and was named the 12th.

Pig is not thought to be a smart animal in China. It likes sleeping and eating and becomes fat. Thus it usually features(象征) laziness. However, it behaves itself, has no plan to harm others, and it has been regarded as wealth and the year of the pig is filled with good luck. If you, or anybody around you were born in the year of the pig, then you are said to be brave, honest and gentle.
